Our daily activity review allows for you to act on violations without the burden of time-consuming computer review. Of course, all data is still available to you at your convenience via internet website, with option of immediate violation notification at no extra charge.

CDA prides itself in personalized client support

The key to providing our high standard of service is to provide our clients with a CDA single point-of-contact; an employee who is familiar with your agency and staff, and the common issues that are specific only to your agency. Unlike manufacturer call centers where you may never speak with the same person more than once, we know your agency and staff by name and are able to offer solutions that are tailored to each of our client's specific situations.

CDA's flexibility means more than just offering a range of products!

CDA works with multiple manufacturers, making the selection of equipment flexible and ensuring the best value for equipment and monitoring service in the industry. Given the rapid change in technology and the resulting increase in product availability, why would any agency want to be locked in to a contract, limited to a single manufacturer who does not have ability to change to the best equipment on the market as soon as it becomes available? Before considering changes to or growth in your home confinement electronic monitoring program, please call us! CDA Inc.'s 25 years of technology experience will work for you and with you to find the best value.
